

Cookie Walk

You'll need:

- A large, open area
- Sidewalk chalk or construction paper and paints
- A CD or tape player
- CDs or cassette tapes
- A fishbowl or clear jar big enough to reach into
- 25-30 small slips of paper or poker chips
- Cookies, at least three different types
- A table for the cookies

Set up and play:

- Have each member of your carnival committee bring in a dozen cookies on the day of your carnival.
- Draw a large circle on the ground. Write or make numbers to place randomly around the circle. Make sure the numbers won't move when people walk on them. You should have between 25 and 30 numbers around the circle.
- Write each number on a slip of paper or poker chip and put them in the fishbowl.
- To begin each game, players gather around the circle, standing on a number.
- When the music begins, the group begins moving clockwise around the circle, stepping on the numbers.
- After a minute or so, stop the music. Players stop on the number closest to them.

- Blindly select a number from the fishbowl. The person standing on that number chooses their cookie. If no one is on that number, there is no winner for that round.
